Dortmund-based OpusCapita Software GmbH is one of the leading suppliers of Catalog Management, Procurement and Product Information Management (PIM) solutions. Today, OpusCapita’s Source-In-Pay solutions are used to map all procurement scenarios in a simple, secure and accurate manner. OpusCapita’s Product Information Management solutions ensure consistent product information in every channel and reduce the time and effort spent on administering data. We are developing and managing one of Europe’s largest business networks that enables 500 million business transactions and cooperation between hundreds of thousands of companies all over the world.

As a company being in the PIM market since 1999 we currently see may opportunities and are looking for a

PRODUCT MANAGER / BUSINESS ANALYST (f/m)
for our Product Line PIM.

In a content-driven world, providing relevant and accurate product information in all channels is crucial for the business. However, making sure to have the right information in each channel and keeping that information up-to-date can be extremely challenging. We will enhance our existing PIM solution by business rules to clean and validate data. We implement interfaces to Global Data Networks like GS1, GDSN or PEPPOL. We inject disruptive technologies, like Machine Learning or IBM Watson and we need to find the answers what the Internet of Things means for selling products.

By joining OpusCapita, you will help us to transform businesses in verticals like automotive, electric, retail or FMCG to this new era. We establish an end to end user experience by enhancing connectors to MAM solutions like Plessinox or Celum, eCommerce and shop solutions like Oxid, shopware or magento and print solutions like Infobrienn or WebyDo. Together we will grow from DACH to the Nordic and to the USA.

Inspiring – Your future tasks
• Analysis of complex customer’s needs and customer’s wishes in collaboration with our project managers
• Implementation of Connectors and Interfaces to 3rd party software, like eShops, Print or MAM solutions
• Development of solutions as to be used in our standard software products
• Responsible for the development of functional specifications as a basis for the software development
• Close collaboration with the software development and quality assurance team leaders
• Presentation of the software to chosen customer groups

Convincing – Your current profile
• Degree in business management or technical degree
• Several years of work experience in product-specific software development or as a technical project manager
• Strongly pronounced problem-solving skills
• Ability to work efficiently, structured and independently
• Experiences in the design of software solutions or eBusiness processes
• Experiences with PIM, MAM, CMS, CRM, ERP or other eCommerce systems are a plus
• Very good German and English language skills (spoken and written)

WHAT MAKES OPUSCAPITA A GREAT WORKPLACE?
Ask your 2,000 future colleagues: they say that they feel valued, that their work matters and they can actually make a difference, and that their work environment and people they work with are energetic and fun. We work across borders every day and know that together we make it. Our organization chart is flat and working hours flexible for a reason: we trust our employees to get the job done as we are all fueled by the same passion to succeed. In OpusCapita, we even love Mondays! We are dedicated in creating an atmosphere where your ideas can flourish, you can achieve your ambitions and really enjoy your work. Our ‘I love Mondays’ club spices up the days at the office with events that bring a smile to your face and welcomes you to nice leisure activities to share some relaxed times with your co-workers.

Do you want to work in an international acting team, cooperate with well known customers and build a world class product that is used by several thousand users world wide? If so, we are looking forward to review your application!
